REVIEWER: RECOMMENDATIONS

(assuming DCI elects to make specific proposals to NSC)

25X1

It is recommended:

- a. That in view of the Magnitude issue as well as the guidance needed to give proper direction to stepped up covert operations, the NSC conduct a comprehensive review of the covert operations situation.
- b. That the above review include a restatement or redetermination as appropriate of the several responsibilities and authorities involved in U. S. covert operations.
- c. That if the above review results in a reaffirmation of the decision to place covert operational responsibility within CIA - CIA should be guaranteed all necessary support from other agencies of the government to insure the successful discharge of this responsibility including the following specific assurances:
 - (1) More specific provisions for joint planning with the military for covert support of military operations, spelling out a clear delineation of authorities, duties and responsibilities.
 - (2) Specific guidance for dealing with the military in fields where the same covert apparatus is being developed to engage in high priority cold war missions as well as to be available to the military in the event of overt war.
 - (3) More specific provision for insuring determination by the State Department on the important foreign policy and political considerations involved, including specifically, machinery through which the degree of necessity or desirability of proposed covert operations is spelled out from a foreign policy standpoint.
 - (4) Specific provisions to insure that the type and quantities of administrative and logistical support required of other governmental departments and agencies for the prosecution of the covert effort will be forthcoming as necessary. This support should include high level, capable political and military personnel.
- d. That where policy guidance for covert operations is of concern to more than one department, this guidance be coordinated and issued to CIA by the new Psychological Strategy Board.
- e. That NSC 10/2 be revised to reflect the current policy of the National Security Council on scope and pace of covert operations, as well as to clarify certain passages of that document which have been rendered obsolete by developments.
